“AMDISA’s One-day Workshop on Self-Assessment Report Writing” (Contd. from page 1)

The Workshop included four sessions, namely:
• Session-1 on “Accreditation Procedures”
• Session-2 on “Characteristics of a Good Self-Assessment Report”
• Session-3 on “Preparing Self-Assessment Report”
• Session-4 on “Writing the Self-Assessment Report: Panel Discussion”

The workshop highlighted that world over, the accepted measure of quality assurance in education is voluntary accreditation. Voluntary Accreditation is a concept of self-regulation which focuses on self-study and evaluation and on the continuing improvement of educational quality. It is both a process and a result. As a process, it is a form of peer review in which an association of schools and colleges establishes sets of criteria and procedures. As a result, it is a form of certification granted by a recognized and authorized accrediting agency.

AMDISA launched the global benchmark quality assurance and accreditation system for Business Schools - SAQS. SAQS is the quality assurance scheme run by AMDISA as a service to the management education profession worldwide. SAQS emerged in an EFMD - AMDISA cooperation through a European Union funded Asia - Link project in 2003-04. It is inspired by EFMD’s EQUIS criteria guidelines.

It was highlighted that the Self-Assessment is a key part of the accreditation process. It has much wider significance for the School and for the accreditation team. It provides an opportunity for the School to gain greater ownership of the process and to improve its own understanding of the issues surrounding the development of the School as an international center for management education.

The main aims of the Self-Assessment Report are to (i) Provide an opportunity for the entire School to take stock of its situation; (ii) Carry out a comprehensive strategic review; (iii) Result in an unbiased and critical self-examination; (iv) Provide a basis for the Peer Review; and (v) Contribute to a better understanding of the nature of quality in management education.

The Self-Assessment Report (SAR) is a reflection on the continuous quality improvements of the institution; systematically reviews and assesses outcomes; identifies areas of strength, weaknesses, opportunities and threats and identifies the areas where strategies may need to be developed to improve or maintain quality and benchmarking.

CPM Regional Management Conference 2018

CRMC- 2018 was a Rich Articulation of how to deliver Winnovative Business Strategies: The Quest for Managerial Excellence

The Institute of Certified Professional Managers (CPM) conducted the CPM Regional Management Conference 2018 (CRMC 2018) in collaboration with the Association of Management Development Institutions in South Asia (AMDISA) at Kingsbury Hotel, Colombo on 04th and 05th September 2018. Participants represented from the AMDISA member countries in the South Asian Region and the CRMC 2018 was represented by leading management development institutions from India, Pakistan, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Nepal, Maldives, Bhutan and Afghanistan. The theme of the international forum was “Delivering Winnovative Business Strategies: The Quest for Managerial Excellence”.

The conference was inaugurated on the 04th September by the Chief Guest Hon. Karu Jayasuriya, Speaker of the Parliament of Sri Lanka. The Key Note Speaker was Dr Ravi Fernando, an Executive in Residence at the INSEAD Business School and Chairman / CEO of Strategic Corporate Sustainability Pvt. Ltd which operates in China, Vietnam and Sri Lanka. The President of AMDISA and Dean of MNU Business School, The Maldives National University Mr. Abdul Rahman Mubaarique, Vice President of AMDISA and Chairman of Board of Governors, University of Management & Technology, Pakistan Dr. Hasan Sohaib Murad, Director of IIM Bangalore, India Prof. G. Raghuram addressed the inaugural session together with the President of CPM, Prof. Lakshman R. Watawala who is also the Immediate Past President of AMDISA and Mr Samantha Rathnayake, Chairman of the Technical Committee/ faculty member/management consultant at the Postgraduate Institute of Management of University of Sri Jayewardenepura. Also, at the inauguration day, CPM awarded Management Leadership Awards to a number of versatile personalities in respective management disciplines in recognition of their visionary leadership, commitment and dedication to the respective fields.

The tasks of crafting and executing strategy are core management functions. The excellence in the delivering of an ‘winnovative’ (winning+innovation) strategy is the most acceptable formula for turning an organization into a standout performance over a sustainable period. Crafting winnovative strategies is broadly a market-driven or/and resource-driven exercise revolving around the key application of managerial excellence. The conference explored the successful insights and foresights on the above theme based on local and regional best practices. It highlighted how to drive innovation into a winning formula; how to take an organization into a stand out performance; and the emerging insights and foresights in winnovative spheres?

CPM President Prof. Lakshman Watawala emphasized the need for the management layer of the country to drive economic growth along with the current development initiatives would be benefitted from good management, underscoring the need for institutions to develop the requisite strategies. The CPM and professional institutions have to play a role. The key note speaker, Dr. Ravi Fernando stressed the fact that this is where the world embeds sustainability and understands the reality. As we build business strategies, we have to choose whether we are part of the problem or part of the solution, Is our country or the business part of the solution or part of the problem? We have to be the part of the solution. In that light, as per the conference theme, he pointed out that on the need for drawing attention by the leaders of the organisation that the challenge of strategic corporate sustainability is how the executing process within corporates could be directed.

Four core themes were deliberated in the following technical sessions:
Session 1 - “Making Institutional Strategy and Business Model Winning”
Session 2 - “Achieving Managerial Excellence through Innovative Practices”
Session 3 - “Strategy Development & Execution: Challenges and Success Stories”
Session 4 - “Delivering Results: Leading, Managing, Governance and Society”

Making Institutional Strategy and Business Model Winning
The key themes deliberated on how to derive a business strategy and link to the business model; how to get corporate to think strategy based business models; and what are the success stories of making strategy winning practices.

Achieving Managerial Excellence through Innovative Practices
It was truly worthwhile to explore what innovative practices have been adopted by the institutions, and how they have successfully executed them. The most significant discussed points were what the relationship between strategy and innovative practices is; how to get organizations to set new priorities as per the intended strategies; and how to achieve managerial excellence.

Strategy Development & Execution: Challenges and Success Stories.
Many scholars shared their best practices in the context of the above sub theme. They shared what are the strategy development/formation best practices; how to develop an integrated execution plan; and what are the success stories in different contexts.

Delivering Results: Leading, Managing, Governance and Society
Moulding new thinking as well as strategizing, adopting and executing such new thinking into actions and results was a core phenomenon in strategic management.

Veteran panellists representing key institutions both from the public and private sector in the region expressed their opinions in line with strategy and execution as often interchanged as the same despite there was a gap. Leaders need to exhibit and foster creativity and innovation in the workplace to succeed in today’s competitive, unstable and volatile climate. This dynamic panel discussion brought top of their real life experiences in respective domains. How to connect with leading, managing, governance and societal dimensions in our endeavour to deliver results was the most highlighted factor in the panel discussion.

It was observed that business strategies stem through innovation, which is vital, same as the managerial excellence and tactics. There was an intriguing appeal to look at the recent history of the businesses to see the impact of innovation. Innovation has helped companies achieve great success against those which do not have innovation.
was a time when the mobile phones industry was dominated by Nokia. Rest is history. Innovation is the biggest challenge for organisations to achieve success. How can we change an organisation into an innovative strategic one? Innovative strategies drive markets. Innovative minds boost performance of organisations and markets. Since innovation is change and change is most important in strategy, innovation has great value. No corporation can survive without innovation. Creating business values mean breakthroughs such as engineering products, cost reduction, ambitious improvements, new business models and new ventures.

While contemplating on innovative thinking, a person has to root himself outside the company and then only a person would be able to think fresh, would be able to add value to the company. Once a person is outside the company and sees what is happening outside, then he/she thinks outside the real space. When we think outside the company and then through the broader sphere of the ecosystem, that means we are looking at the world from the ecosystem. We will be able to see what is happening around the company and all the innovation. In the mindset of leadership, ideas, aspirations and possibilities have no boundaries. When we want to recreate and redefine a firm, the strategy, which is in our mind, should not limit ourselves to our firm. We should be able to see what is out there.

The ecosystem is about interconnectedness. What it requires is exposure. In order to have exposure, a person’s mindset has to have the exposure of that arena. The strategic outlook today is not the one that we used to have typically in military. This entire strategic outlook today is based upon our power and capacity that enhances our company’s values. So, this is the key strategic output that requires the capacity of the firm, to be a reliable partner in this network. Collaborative approach requires openness without reservation. Cultural openness, which is based upon a high degree of trust, would lead to increasing the capacity of exercise. It is not the hierarchy that matters today; it is what the company can create itself to steer forward by developing partnership.

The CPM would like to extend sincere appreciation and willing to continue the friendly spirit and request to join hand with future conferences in the region. All in all, it is about using the concepts that have been put across at this conference to make the region more vibrant for all management professionals.

FORE International Sustainable Development Conference (FISDC) 2018

FORE School of Management in association with International Association for Business and Society (IABS) has organized the “International Sustainable Development Conference 2018” during January 11-13, 2018 at FORE Campus, New Delhi.

FORE is proud to associate with IABS for this year’s conference with the theme ‘Business and Society in Emerging Economies’. This was the 6th international conference at FORE School of Management and the 2nd conference on Sustainability in the FORE International Sustainable Conference (FISD) series. Bringing together distinguished speakers, academicians, scholars, practitioners, policymakers and NGOs from across the world, the Conference focused on discussing the latest developments in the field, presenting new research and addressing participant queries.

A day before the official inauguration of the Conference, Doctoral workshop has been organized for the participating doctoral students to get the feedback of the International eminent faculty on their research work. On the same day, Mentoring session was also organized by Dr. Colin Higgins, Associate Professor, Deakin University, Melbourne, Australia; Dr. Jennifer J. Griffin, Raymond C. Baumhart, S.J. Endowed Chair and Professor of Strategy, Loyola University, Chicago, Illinois, USA; Dr. Rajat Panwar, Associate Professor, Appalachian State University, North Carolina, USA; and Dr. Harry Van Buren, Professor, The University of New Mexico, USA for the participants on publishing in Business and Society Journal, which is a top ranked journal in the CSR, Ethics and Sustainability.

The Inaugural Function was held on January 12, 2018. As Convener, Dr. Shalini Taneja (Associate Professor, FORE School of Management) observed, “We are proud to host the 6th International Conference at FORE in association with IABS. This time we have received 76 academic papers and Case Studies submissions from across the world, 56 (including 9 in absentia) of which were shortlisted for presentation at the Conference.”

The Conference is another step forward in FORE’s constant efforts to acknowledge the Indian Government’s law on CSR spend (the companies Act, 2013 on CSR) led by Dr. Jitendra Das, the institute’s Director. In his welcome address, Dr. Das said, “Two major issues need to be addressed, when we talk about sustainability: the increasing gap between the rich and poor in developing countries like India and environmental degradation.” He further dissected these two issues on social and economic grounds. Dr. Vinyashil Gautam (Executive Board Member - FORE and Chairman, DK International Foundation; Founder Director, IIM-K; 1st Head, Management Department, IIT-Delhi; and 1st Honorary Dean, KPMG Academy) delivered the theme address by stressing upon the importance of understanding the context in which Business Ethics, CSR and Sustainability needs to be understood by key stakeholders.
The Keynote Speaker for the event, Dr. Jennifer J. Griffin (Loyola University, USA), made an immediate connection with the audience with her research and reflection on CSR and Sustainability. She appreciated the efforts put in by FORE and Dr. Das to build socially responsible managers who will be taking up leadership roles in the corporate world. Dr. Griffin shared, “To hear about CSR being a compulsory MBA course for the very first time in a post graduate school (FORE School) in India is really phenomenal.” Officially launching the proceedings for the Conference, the inaugural session also brought out various aspects of Sustainability for wider conversation. The deep engagement of the audience could be gauged by the range of questions discussed during High Tea.

Each session of the conference witnessed thought provoking ideas getting discussed, with crucial takeaways for all participants. The Valedictory session had Dr. Rajat Panwar, Dr. Jitendra Das, and Dr. Hitesh Arora on the dais. Dr. Panwar urged the audience to engage with the IABS and join its next conference in Hong Kong. The awards ceremony that followed recognized the best work from over 56 papers that were selected for the conference. Dr. Richa Mishra, Assistant Professor, J.K. Lakshmipat University, Rajasthan, India won the Best Paper Award for her work on “Personality orientation, occupational stress and procrastinating behaviour – comparison of public and private sector employees”. The Best Business Case Award was won by Dr. Divya Bhutani, Associate Professor, LMTSM, Derabassi, Punjab, India. Congratulating the winners and reminding the gathering that it was the second conference on CSR at the B-School, Dr. Das said, “We should have this conference every year; given how important this issue is in India.” In his Valedictory address Dr. Harry Van Buren surmised the learning from the Conference, “We can and must be part of the generation of management scholarship that seeks to make business better.” He highlighted the challenges currently faced by the business world and society at large. The Conference had certainly played its part in addressing some of the crucial aspects, issues and drivers of commerce and industry in our connected world.

The Conference Convener, Prof. Hitesh Arora thanked the sponsors, Power Grid Corporation of India, Skill Council for Persons with Disability (SCPwD), Skill Champs & CIS for supporting the conference as well as the Strategic Partners, Global Compact Network India, PHD Chamber of Commerce & Industry, BRICS Chamber of Commerce & Industry, European Institute of Asian Studies, Anugraha, SRF Foundation, National CSR Network, AMDISA and ShaktiShi.

5th International HR Conference on the theme “Rewiring HRM in a globalized workplace: Challenges of Diversity, Employment Relations and Skills”

The 5th HR Conference took place on 2nd and 3rd February 2018. The theme for the conference was “Rewiring HRM in Globalized Workplace: Challenges of Diversity, Employment Relations, and Skills.” The conference was organized in collaboration with California State University San Bernardino (CSUSB) and University of Yunnan. AMDISA - Association of Management Development Institutions in South Asia was the publicity partner and BPCL was the sponsorship partner.

The first keynote speaker at the conference was Mr. Kevin Balm. He is the Director of Participative Technologies in Melbourne and Thailand, a facilitation consultancy firm specializing in participative learning, planning, and decision-making processes. He highlighted the relevance of aligning the workplace discourse (communication) in a smart tech-driven, multi-generation and connected world. He also shared the concept of collective discourse which refers to people in a shared enterprise engaging in focused, meaningful and productive conversation. The conversation targets challenges and aspirations of the future of their enterprise. Any communication can be analyzed as objective, reflective, interpretive and decisional. Each has its own significance.

The second keynote address was delivered by Mr. Vivek Paranjpe. He is a Strategic HR Advisor at Reliance Industries Limited. He focused on employer-employee contract and how to deal with challenges of imbibing company culture in an organization. He also emphasized that for an individual, not only knowledge but its application is equally important as well. He also cautioned that current skills will become obsolete in the near future, so mentoring and coaching is the need of the day to ensure a thriving organization.

The keynote address was concluded with the release of the conference compendium.

Mr. Kevin Balm conducted a workshop. The theme for the workshop was: “The leadership challenge of aligning the workplace discourse in a tech-driven, demographically changing, and the globally connected world.”

The session explored frameworks which leaders can employ to frame, shape and steer the formal and informal conversations comprising the collective workplace discourse. The first-hand experience of being part of workplaces - co-located or dispersed, is as living, human systems, and the sum of interactions (the discourse) between the parts of the system establishes the future directions and operating norms of the system. Organizational mission, vision, values statements and strategic plans serve as influential frames of reference, however, leadership needs to frame, shape and steer the discourse. This was particularly important since an organization’s discourse also helps form, and therefore can reform the individual and collective self-concept (self-story) influencing behavior and attitudes.

The workshop was followed by paper presentations by academicians.

The Conference concluded with the vote of thanks and the announcement of the next year’s conference (2019). The theme for the next year conference is ‘Teams and Workplace.’

c. 3rd International Conference on Marketing

ICFAI - Business School, Mumbai (IBS, Mumbai) organized its 3rd International Conference on Marketing on 19th April, 2018 at Hotel Kohinoor Continental, Mumbai under the able stewardship and guidance of Prof. Y.K. Bhushan, Senior Advisor and Campus Head, IBS Mumbai. The theme of this year’s conference, was “Refocusing Marketing- Issues, Trends and Challenges”.

The Chief Guest of this year’s conference was Mr. Rajesh Gangwani, Managing Partner & Executive Director of the world’s oldest Advertising & Media firm, J. Walter Thompson. The members of the Board of Directors of the Association of Management Development Institutions in South Asia (AMDISA) were also present at this function.

Prof. Y.K Bhushan in his welcome address mentioned that the theme of the conference was apt in the current turbulent times prevailing in the country. He welcomed industry participants in the conference and looked forward to the day when industry would join hands with academia and apply the marketing concepts and strategies to refocus marketing processes in an innovative manner. He also complimented the marketing conference organizing team for managing the event on a grand scale.

The keynote address was delivered by Prof. Dr. Jagdish Sheth who talked about the issues pertaining to Consumer Behavior in the millennium age as well as on the concept of the “roommate” family. Prof. Y.K. Bhushan thanked Dr. Jagdish Sheth for taking time out of his busy schedule to send a video recording of his presentation.

The conference address by Mr. Rajesh Gangwani talked about the rapid changes occurring in the market place and how marketers need to rethink and refocus their marketing concepts and strategies in order to remain relevant and contemporary in today’s turbulent business world.

Mr. R.R Reddy (Registrar – IBS – H.O) also graced the occasion. The conference also featured delegates from industry as well as faculty members of well known management institutes in the city. There were 40 research papers written by well known academicians, industry professionals, management consultants and B School students in the conference. The Compendium of papers which showcased academic research and documented managerial practice was released by Prof. Y.K. Bhushan, Senior Advisor & Campus Head in the presence of the Chief guest of the function, Mr. Rajesh Gangwani, Managing Partner & Executive Director, J. Walter Thompson and members of the AMDISA Board. The conference sub themes were broadly split into three categories viz., New Age & Digital Media Marketing, Brand Building and Contemporary Issues in Marketing. The three research tracks were chaired by eminent industry professionals and academicians. A noteworthy feature of this year’s conference was the entry of 8 research papers written by students of well known management institutes including 5 by students of IBS, Mumbai. The Conference offered a platform to debate and promote collaboration amongst academicians and management practitioners and provided valuable inputs for developing cutting edge marketing strategies for the foreseeable future.

The research paper reading sessions were followed by a lively panel discussion on the theme of the conference “Refocusing Marketing – Issues, Trends and Challenges” where cutting edge ideas in the marketing area were discussed and debated by industry veterans and academic champions. The panel members were drawn from various industry verticals like Advertising & Media, Market Research, IT & Cloud Computing and Consumer Durables.

The evening concluded with the valedictory session where prizes were awarded by the Dy Campus Head Dr. Pritee Saxena and the Dean Academics, Prof. Hemant Purandare to the best papers in three categories : Academic research Papers, Industry Research Papers and student papers.

The International Conference on Marketing provided very rich and fruitful experience for the participant and delegates. We sincerely hope that the conference was successful in igniting curiosity and the quest for knowledge in world of academia, industry and research.

iv. Vignana Jyothi Institute of Management, Hyderabad, India

1st International Conference on “Impact of Current Events on the Future of Business”

Vignana Jyothi Institute of Management, Hyderabad is organizing the 1st International Conference on “Impact of Current Events on the Future of Business” on 4th and 5th January, 2019 at VJIM Campus, Hyderabad, India.

Recent events, including BREXIT, Trump win, the Chinese crash, technology disruption, are leading to a changing global landscape that is impacting businesses and nations. The impact is felt in cultural, social, business, political and technological spheres. As people, businesses and nations are impacted, the imperative to understand, temper and manage these forces is taking center stage. To identify the path forward has become the primary focus for all businesses and nations, big and small alike.

Technology has transformed the work environment. Artificial intelligence and other technologies are rapidly rearranging our concept of work, and even threatening to radically change or reorient certain job functions. We are now witnessing a call for smart capabilities powered by Machine Learning (ML) and Artificial Intelligence (AI). As AI is entering new markets or adding new products to existing markets, marketers are testing which of these technologies enable faster and less expensive time-to-market strategies. Not only do marketers need to keep up with the incredible pace of product development, they also need a cheaper way to access riskier markets to justify the investment. Added to this, marketers need to learn how these technologies will provide global customers with the most possible personalized experience.

We have also seen an increasing integration among global financial markets. Financial markets have greater efficiency and growth. Yet, despite favourable growth indicators and policy interventions, experts also warn about a few scenarios that might negatively impact the world business, specifically the financial markets. To identify the path forward has become the primary focus for all businesses and nations, big and small alike. At this juncture is the concept and ideology of globalisation still relevant?

Against this backdrop, a two-day international conference is planned to provide a forum to showcase relevant research. For details, please visit AMDISA’s website at: http://www.amdisa.org/VJIM_Int_Conf_2018.

vi. K.J.Somaiya Institute of Management Studies and Research (SIMSR), Mumbai, India
6th International HR Conference on the theme “Demystifying Team Dynamics”

K.J.Somaiya Institute of Management Studies and Research (SIMSR), Mumbai is organizing the 6th International HR Conference on the theme “Demystifying Team Dynamics” on 1st and 2nd February, 2019 at its campus in Mumbai, India.

The HR conference at SIMSR is one of the prestigious gatherings for academicians and practitioners. It is a two-day event that takes place in Mumbai, India every year. The conference brings together HR and other professionals from around the country and the world to discuss, reflect on and develop their ideas. It offers many opportunities for professional contact, development and networking.

As Aristotle said, “The whole can be greater than the sum of its parts.” In its simplest form, teamwork is an activity in which members of an organization come together to work toward a common goal or set of goals. In today’s work environment, teamwork can happen in-person or (increasingly) online. It is worth noting that today’s teams are much different than they were in the past. For instance, today’s teams are more diverse and dynamic, containing unique skill sets that bring new challenges and opportunities. As a result, each project that requires teamwork can also serve as an opportunity for personal growth and professional development. Being digitally literate — or possessing the ability to use information and communication technologies — has become increasingly important in team settings, as technology dominates the workplace.

In the future, we hope to see more improvements in terms of usage of AI (Artificial Intelligence) and automation to help teams work efficiently. With the help of artificial intelligence, companies will be able to build a more diverse workforce. Artificial intelligence will make businesses recruit smarter, whilst also boosting their chances of retaining top talent. But how exactly will AI do this? Bots and machines will be able to gauge a candidate’s emotional intelligence and will also run keyword searches. Keyword searches will be carried out on items such as resumes. Ultimately candidate experience will improve the more artificial intelligence evolves.

The HR Conference team at SIMSR finds this an apt platform to understand the dynamics of teams and its applications in various disciplines of management and other areas of life. Teams are used to solve problems, attain goals and achieve performance. Academic and corporate professionals are invited to present their research in the areas of team and teamwork. The conference paper should be on the sub-themes and related areas of teams. The theme and subthemes are indicative areas.
